Toy Joy

A child's emotional development begins at infancy and grows during childhood by various stages.

Toys are not a source of environment but also play a vital educational role. Toys enhance cognitive behavior, improve cerebral development and stimulate creativity among children.

Toys promote physical as well as mental skills. Children are known to learn color recognition, counting, eye-hand coordination, math and science skills. Toys also help cognitive development, emotional development, and social development of children.

TOY JOY

According to Early Childhood development Experts toys allow children to use their minds and bodies to learn about spatial relationships, cause and effect, and a wide range of other skills. Toys use distinctive sounds, bright colors which help them recognize shapes and colors.

On the whole toys impact the child's overall personality (physical development as well as emotional development). TOY JOY is ExNoRa International's latest initiatives through which we intend to collect old, unused, over used toys and distribute it to underprivileged children who do not have any toys to play with.

Toy Joy

“Mommy, I want that toy.” Child Nitin asks his mom.

Mom: “But Nitin I just got you a toy last week. Why don’t you play with that?”

Nitin :“I don’t want that toy. It’s too old.”

Mom: “Too old?” It’s just a week old”

There are many kids like Nitin who want new toys every week.

Rich kids like Nitin just shove most of their toys into a cupboard.

But there are poor kids in the slum who just dream about toys and never own even a single toy.

Toy Joy

Children from a well to do family play with Barbie dolls, hot wheel cars, toy guns and so on But take a look at the kids from the slum. They play with stones, wood from trees, old tyres and used bottles from wastes. Pitiful isn't it?

Toy Joy

If a child plays with a toy, it increases his or her strength and the ability to think and make decisions. Toys trigger the creativity in each child. A toy can bring joy to a child. Toys do play an important role in a child's life. Children in slums suffer from want of company, with parents working for their livelihood. Toys will be a good Companion and compensate the absence of parents.

Toy Joy

Think of the poor parents who cannot afford their kids money to buy toys. Think of the child's heart when it sees rich kids playing with toys. Every kid has the same longing to own and play with toys.

Toy Joy

You can change a child's life by donating the old and unused toys, your child doesn't play with or even touch it. Toy Joy is an activity / organisation which is based on the principle "Make others happy & become Happy" Toys are collected and given to the slum kids regularly. If you would like to donate old / new toys, just send to ExNoRa

Toy Joy

Organisation Structure in Schools

How to give ???

- The Children who want to give TOYS to poor Children should go and give it themselves . But how it should be given?
- They should arrange a common place. They should be accompanied by adults , e.g Teachers , ExNoRa Volunteers, etc
- The place could be even School Premises.
- They should explain to poor children how to use and play with the toys and actually play with them
- As the poor children play they should silently leave . The Children should not take pride and poor children should not develop inferiority complex at very young age. Hence this advice

22 DIY Ideas To Recycle Old Toys... #16 Is The Best Light Fixture I've EVER Seen.

When we were kids, we coveted our toys; they held a very special place in our hearts and held such great value that losing them was the most devastating thing that could possibly happen in our young lives. As we grew older, we lost interest in toys and eventually what we once loved, are left in a storage box, thrown away or handed down and forgotten.

Although, sense of nostalgia is very strong when we are reunited with toys that we once played with or those playthings our children once enjoyed. There is a sadness in having to part with these priceless mementos once again as they serve no real purpose. However, thanks to some very crafty people, we now have the chance to up-cycle our playthings or those toys our children once played with.

The following photos pay an homage of sorts to not just our toys but our childhood as we well.

When it is an “ORGANISATION” & When it is an “ACTIVITY” - the difference

ExNoRa International has developed 500 concepts, each a down to earth innovative solution for each one of the challenging problems . Each is a distinct medicine to cure one societal illness. Though problems are there everywhere , some are peculiar only to certain places e.g. (1) Air Pollution , Water Pollution, Sea Pollution, etc. in Industrial areas (2) Land Side / Land Slips in Hilly Areas, (3) Threat of Natural Disasters in Sea Areas necessitating the residents to focus on Disaster Preparedness (5) Noise Pollution near , Places of Worship & Marriage Halls, etc. & the necessity of a Satellite Organisation is fully justified

OPTIONS

1. As an ORGANISATION: If there is a problem present in a town/ village / street & if there is no Residents Welfare ExNoRa or ExNoRa Innovators Club operating , any one seeking to solve that problem can approach ExNoRa International, get license & start the related Satellite Organisation . (e.g. Noise Pollution . He or she can start Voice Against Noise as a Satellite organisation of ExNoRa International).
2. As an ACTIVITY : But if there is Residents Welfare ExNoRa operating in a street , the problem solving exercise will be an activity of the Residents Welfare ExNoRa and will come under the guidance & supervision of the Residents Welfare ExNoRa
